

The Colorld IS THE WANT DIRECTORY 642,905 Which is About as Many as Combined Contained.

Every RESULT Has a CAUSE.

NEW YORK, MONDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1888.

A FEAST FOR KINGS.

Who Wouldn't Be an "Evening World "Newsboy To-Morrow?

Behold the Menu Provided for 1,000 of Them at Everett's.

and Ples in Thousands.

Before the hour of 1 o'clock to-morrow a grand transformation scene will begin in the spacious dining-rooms of the Hotel Everett, on Park Row.

The restaurant will then be invaded by a host of men, who will seize the dishes and tables now occupying the dining half and bear them away, while another host will ap-

One thousand boys are wanted at THE EVENING WORLD office to-day, when each will receive a ticket with his papers. At hoon sharp to-morrow a grand parade will be overnived.

A real live drum-major will march at the head of the procession, the real purpose of which of course, is to give the boys a little constitutional, in order to increase their appetites. After a few minutes' marching the spruce drum-major will lead the head of his attacking column up to the place to be stormed.

Proprietor Everett will welcome every one with his genial smile, while Head-Waiter Robert B. Campbell will instruct his twenty-five neat waiters to obey the slightest wish of every boy, and to see that he is thoroughly supplied.

Any boy who cannot eat at least two plates of everything he sees will be set down by his chums as being no good and forever banished from the society circles in and around Park

Row,

When The Evening Words reporter called this morning on Mr. Everett that gentleman was in cestacies.

"Everything is arranged," he said, rubbing his bands gleefully, "and this dinner will eclipse anything of the kind ever given."

Then Mr. Everett told what the boys were going to have.

going to have.

A ton and a half of turkey.

Three thousand pounds of the best Philadelphia gobblers that can be gotten. A whole mountain of beautiful white meat only waiting for the boys to tackle it.

Pile the hundreds of barrels of potatoes, onions and turnips on top of it, and the apex the huge cone could never be reached.

Mince pie? Well, I should smile. There's Mince pie? Well, I should smile. There's only 700 of them, but no boy can eat more than one pie, especially after that turkey has been discussed. The pies are something delicious to look upon, and for those who don't fancy mince, custard pies to the number of 350, each an inch deep with the delicious cream, have been provided.

But then, maybe some won't like either custard or minee, so Mr. Everett has caused 150 juicy apple pies to be created.

Three hundred bunches of crisp, snow-white celery will help sharpen the boys' appetites, while all the little spaces and chiuks of their small stomachs can be filled in with raisins or walnuts. There are two barrels of the latter and six boxes of raisins.

There is only one thing remaining to complete the list of good things and this descrip-Two barrels of these tart red berries thing She Could Carry Awny.

PRETTY SALLIE MAGEE, OF PHILADELPHIA.

ance was modest and her apparel was usually

On Dec. 8 the young woman attended a funeral at the house of Joseph Stephens, 620 Pagoda street. She sat in the corner and wept when the others wept, and with downcast eyes availed herself of the last opportunity of looking at the corpse before the coffin was finally closed. When the funeral procession left the house it was noticed by some that the rosy-cheeked girl remained behind. After all the friends had gone she was seen leaving the house. She had her handkerchief to her eyes and carried a bundle. People uitied her in her sorrow and thought no more about it until the family returned from the cemetery. Then it was discovered that quite a number of articles were missing from upstairs rooms. The girl had coolly rummaged the bed-chambers, taking what wearing apparel she could conveniently carry, practically from beneath the nose of the housekeeper. Since then the police have been looking for the rosy-cheeked young

There was a funeral at the bouse of Henry Fay, 1533 Marseibes street, on Dec. 13, and a strange and mysterious female mourner, whom no one remembered having seen before, sut with clasped hands and sorrowful face during the services. Her description answered that of the girl who five days before had attended the funeral at Mr. Stephenys. As in that instance, she remained until the funeral cortege was about starting and then lookout has been kept for the young woman since that time.

Last Thursday, Dec. 20, found her at another funeral. This time she selected West Philadelphia as the field for her operations, and attended the funeral services at the house of Thomas J. Carter, 3713 Waliace street. Here she professed to be taken sick and was assisted upstairs, where she could rest awhile. This gave her the opportunity she wanted, and while the sorrowing family were downstairs performing their last duty of respect to the dead the young woman was busy taking her pick of the personal property in the upper rooms. She left behind her worn-out carsets and took a better pair from the wardrobe. She took a lady's suit, a pair of kid gloves and a purse with some change in it, and in a bureau drawer which she broke open she got some articles of trivial value and overlooked a watch and some jewelry.

Special Officers Miller and Stophene of the

One o'clock fo-morrow and at Everett's is the watchword! and let every one look sharp, for time and dinner will wait for no boy.

A RAINY CHRISTMAS DAY.

That's What We'll Have if the Weather Man Is to Be Believed.

"If will rain to-morrow," said Sergt. Dunn to an Evening Wolff proporter this norming to an Evening Wolff proporter this norming. came

> Her parents profess ignorance of the girl's Her parents projess ignorance of the girl's evil ways and are deeply grieved. Her father is a teamster, and formerly lived on Seventh street, below Lombard.
>
> Sallie was locked up at the Sixteenth District Station, and will have a hearing at the Central Station. She had pawned all the stolen articles and they can be recovered.

> was held in $2,000 bail by Justice Patterson, in the Yorkville Police Court, this morning on a charge of burglary preferred by Morris Peck, who keeps a saloon at 1296 First avenue. Kenr-ney was positively identified as one of the men who forcibly entered the saloon last Thursday night and carried off jewelry and clothing valued at $60.

A Young Wife Takes Her Life. Annie Dietzer, twenty-six years old, took paris green with suicidal intent at her home, 514 East eventh street, and died at 12, 10 this morning.

To Make YOUR Christmas Merry remember the janitor and the janitor's babies. If you think the janitor's wife, too, has a bit of spirit left, remember her.

t Guttenburg:

Baces will commence at 1 o'clock P. M. sharp on Christians Day only.

STILL NO REASON GIVEN FOR YOUNG SCHOONMAKER'S CRIME.

The Three Bullets in the Woman Not Yet Located, Nor Will the Hospital Doctors Say There Is Hope She Was Evidently for the Faneral Not Complete.

morning.

House Surgeon Snyder said to an Evening A Big Attendance at Another of the Fat scious since she was brought here early yesterday afternoon, but she has not been able been able to locate any of the buliets yet. Two of them are somewhere in her head and the other is in her breast."

"Has there been any one here to see her?" asked the reporter. "Only a few of her immediate relatives, She seemed to recognize some of these, I thought, by the expression of her eyes. It is my opinion that her loss of speech is occasioned by the shock to her system," he concluded.

Mrs. Schoonmaker is twenty-two years old. Mrs. Schoonmaker is twenty-two years old.
Heary D. Schoonmaker, who fired one bullet into his bran and died after shooting her, was twenty-three years old. They were married in February, 1886, and had one child. Harold L. Schoonmaker, who is fourteen months old.

They live lat 69 Bond street, Brooklyn. occupying the top flat—three rooms and a hall bedroom. Schoonmaker and his young wife slept in a dark bedroom between the parlor and kitchen. His father, Col. Jonathan B. Schoon-maker, is an attache of the Comptroller's office, Brooklyn. He lives at 316 Hancock street. He has been ill with rheumatism for office, Brooklyn. He lives at 316 Hancock street. He has been ill with rheumatism for several weeks.

About moontime yesterday, he received a message from his son telling him to go to the latter's house at once and to burst pen the door if he could no! get in otherwise. Young Schoommaker had been acting strangely of late.

His father suspected at once that something dreadful had happened. Therefore, in company with his brother-in-law. Henry Bullwinkle, he started at once for his jon's house. Near there he met Policeman Shields, of the Adams street station, and induced him to go in the house with him. They found the front and back doors of the young man's flat locked.

Bepeated knocks failed to bring a reply. At last the kitchen door was forced. Everything there was all right. The room was noat as war. The shades were drawn down. A Sunday quiet pervaded, and the offly significant fact there was the cold stove, which showed that no fire had been lighted in it all day.

The now thoroughly alarmed men turned to the door of the middle room, where the young people slept. There was something against it.

A strong shove by the three of them moved A strong shove by the three of them moved it and they got into the darkened room.

At first they could only see the outlines of two forms on the bed. The gas was lighted, and then a heart-rending sight met their gaze. The bed clothing was saturated with lt seemed at first as if both were dead, they lay there so still.

The young woman's face was partially cov-ered by her long, black luxuriant hair.

Her right hand and arm was under her hus-band's week band's neck. His left arm encircled her shoulders.

evidently intended to use that also in case the first one did not perform its deadly work

By the time the three men had grasped these details they were sick with the horror of the scene.
The policeman hurried around to the

The policeman nursed around to the station and reported the case to Capt. Campbell. While he was gone old Mr. Schoomaker had found that his handsome young daughter-in-law was still alive. He put his ear to her heart, and could hear the hear, beat, but very faintly. He fell on his knees beside the bed and cried.

and cried.

"Edie, Edie, for God's sake open your eyes. Look at me. Don't you know me?" A minute that seemed an hour clapsed before the long fringed eyesids opened, and the big and cried. black eyes stared curiously around.

black eyes stared curiously around,
That was the only sign of life or recognition that she gave any one, though.
Capt. Campbell arrived just then and summoned an ambulance. In it sho, was removed to the hospital. The physicians said this morning that they would be able to tell tomorrow whether she would live or not.
The question that is now agitaing the police mind is whether the wife was asleep when her husband killed her or not.
They had about determined this morning that she was. They also know that Schoonmaker planned the deed on Saturday.

that she was. They also know that s maker planned the deed on Saturday. He had been ill for several days, and on the plea that he thought it was scarlet fever that he was suffering from, he had their baby sent to his mother-in-law's house at 14 Third

Then he went around to a telegraph office and left the messags for his father with instructions that it was not to be sent until nooutime yesterday. It was not. Then he spiritual.

The other tenants in the house heard no quarrel or pistel shots before they went to sleep or after they got up yesterday morn-ing. Therefore the police think that young Schoonmaker waited until his wife fell asleep in his arms and then shot her. She probably did not know what happened.

nor does she yet.

Schoonmaker worked as an inside salesman for Oxley, Giddings & Enos, dealers in gas fixtures, on Canal street, in this city. Of late he has acted rather odd, and his friends feared that he was losing his mind. They never apprehended such serious trouble as has resulted, though.

They fived together for many years, and, as far as I know, in perfect tourity. Lawyer Townsend again arose and reiterate lithe offer of the fat prostess to produce a picture right into the court-room. Lawyer Gerry then spoke in answer to the opposing counsel. He recited the facts in the case regarding the commitment of the children of th Schoonmaker worked as an inside salesman

They never apprehended such serious trouble as has resulted, though.

His body, still attired only in his night-robe, lay in a cloth-covered easket in the front room of the flat this morning. When front room of the flat this morning. When the funeral will take place is not known yet.

The young couple had only been housekeeping three mouths. Previous to that they had lived in boarding-houses.

Mrs. Schoonmaker was a beautiful brunette, and judging from the appearance and tasteful decorations of her apartments, noted by The Evening World reporter this morning, she was an excellent housekeeper as well. ing, she was an excellent housekeeper as well.

The other tenants in the house say that they never heard any trouble between the young recople, and every one who knew them says there was no ca ousy between them. re was no cause or suspicion of jeal-

HERE'S A STUNNER.

Marsh Again.

Court with Her To-Day.

Medium's Circuses.

It was the case of Ann O'Del a Diss Debar, who, with her counsel, came to sue for the possession of her children. Alice Messant by the appearance of Lawyer Luther R. Marsh, the man at whose credulity all the world laughed six months ago, and for defrauding whom Ann O'Delia boarded for six flocked and quickly filed the little court room.

The fat madame was the centre of attraction and Lawyer Marsh played second fiddle, although he was not generally recognized.
The spiritual medium was a sight to look upon. She would alternately cry and laugh.
Then she would bestow a languishing look upon Judge Andrews and quickly change it to one of late when her eyes rested on Mr.
Gerry.

Gerry.

Hig tears—real ones—rolled down her cheeks, leaving behind a little furrow in the paint and powder that had been liberally p astered on.

Every one looked for the children and the General but they were conspicuous by their absence.

Lawyer Townsend started the ball a-rolling.

Mr. Gerry had interposed an answer to his

Mr. Gerry had interposed an answer to his complaint.

Lawyer Townsend traversed the answer briefly. He recited that Mme. Diss Debar had previous to her arrest resided at 166 Madison avenue with Luther R. Marsh and others. Certain persons had interfered with their pleasant relations, and caused her imprisonment and separation from her children.

"She can produce a picture by spirit means, and offers to do so in this very court."

"I can," echoed the madame, with a flash of her big eyes, defiant and staring.

The spectators immediately commenced to care a snap, so quiet reigned again.

But the speciators were again excited when Lawyer Townsend finished, and Lawyer Marsh, kindly, dignified and grave, arose and

The bed clothing did not cover them entirely. They were attired only in long white night dresses, open at the neck.

Schoonmaker's right hand was extended by his side. In it he held a 32-calibre revolver with four chambers empty. There was another one of 38-calibre, fully loaded and cocked, on a stand by the bedside. He had coveded, in the standard of the standard of the sum of the sum of the standard of the sum o proceeded. The speciators grew intensely interested and the silence was oppressive. The lawyer first paid a hearty compliment to Mr. Gerry and then said:

"I have been incidentally connected with

"I have been incidentally connected with this affair, although not a party to the custody of the children.

"I suppose these children were taken into custody because of the temporary separation from their parents. Here there is an instance where the parents desire the children.

"I am surprised that my friend Mr. Gerry will not allow it, but I hope he will consent to do so. Their parents are able to take care of these children. Shall the law, shall any strangers say that it shall not be done?

"What is the ground of complaint that is specified against their parents? A verdict that these two people had attempted to defraud a man who never complained of any fraud. It is a case of public interference between two individuals who tried to defraud one another. But the one who was said to have been defranded has made no charge.

"I suppose that the public sense in this

"The truth is the public is so wrapped in their pursuit after wealth that they have no time to study these questions.

"I believe and I say it before the public and the whole world that these things are produced without the aid of mortal hands.

"Subsequent evidences and reflections have convinced me in this respect.

"I am no more mad than Paul was, I am lower of meany years, precise, security and lower of them.

a lawyer of many years' practice, accustomed to handling and working out big cases, and I stand firmly convinced that these things are spiritual. It may be that I have reached my second childhood.

"Because this woman is a medium through which spirit communications can be transmitted, is that a sufficient reason for keeping her children from het?"

"The recent trial and testimony dad not

While the lawer was speaking the priestess grew acitated. Her eyes flashed fire and her face flushed a vivid red in the excess of her emotion. Twice also tried to get on her feet, but both times the court officers warned her to be quiet. Finally she found relief in a violent flood of tears. Mr. Gerry continued:

"Should she reform the case might be different, but in the present state of affairs I carnestly bag Your Honor not to disarrange our plans."

our plans."

Judge Andrews took the papers and reserved his decision. The Court then wenton with its regular business and the fat priestess wadded out with Lawyer Townsend.

Mr. Marsh did not go with her. As Ann was passing out of the door this remark of hers caught the ear of The Evening Would reporter:

"If they had accepted my challenge I would have painted the walls of the court room red."

DEMPSEY ADMITTED TO BAIL.

The Shooting of His Brother Believed to Have Been an Accident.

William Dempsey, the unfortunate young man who accidentally shot his brother James dead while both were struggling for the pos-

The Dempseys live on the second floor of No. 502 West Thirty-third street. Michael is a d aler in scrap iron, and his brother worked for him. James was twenty-seven years old. William is two years younger. Michael is william nearly crazy with grief on the bed.

The wounded man lived long enough to state that the shooting was purely accidental, and relieved his brother of all blame. The police did not learn of the case until yesterday. Then William was arrested. Later he was peroled until morning by Deputy Coroner Schuler.

Only One Edition To-Morrow

THE EVENING WORLD will issue only one dition to-merrow. It will be published about 4 o'clock.

NEWS FROM THE ANTIPODES.

A Town Swept by Fire-Great Strike Ended -A Harricane Bush Fires. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 24.-Advices from Australia report a destructive fire at Broken Hill, a new mining camp in New South Wales, on Nov. 8. The town was built entirely of wood, and in two hours built entirely of wood, and in two hours sixty buildings were destroyed, comprising the main business houses. The losses we re heavy as few carried insurance.

The great strike of coal miners of New Castle has ended. The strike lasted three months. 8,000 men were idle and $1,500,000 lost by the masters and men.

A terrible hurricane swept over Clermont, Queensland, Nov. 2. Hailstones as big as hems eggs were driven by the force of the wind clear through the sides of houses. Gardens, vineyards and orchards were ruined and forest trees were stripped of leaves.

Bush fires in New South Wales are doing great damage. One is reported fifteen miles long. Large flocks of sheep have been burned before they could be removed to places of safety. places of safety.

Little Harry's Thanks. to the Editor of The Evening World:

Please thank the little boy who sent me the crutches this morning. I want to thank you and wish you a Merry Christmas.

HARRY WHITE.

1113 DeKalb avenue. Brooklyn.

Found Dead in Bed. Andrew Murtaugh, seventy years of age, of 145 East Ferty-second street, and Louis Schmidt, a German, forty-five years old, ledg-ing at the Grand Windsor Hotel, 9 Chatham square, were found dead in bed this morning.

The Day in Wall Street.

The buils, who have been having a very hard ime of it this year, were agreeably surprised today with a moderately sized boom. All the prominent issues were in brisk demand and the prominent issues were in brisk demand and the lears were eager pirchasers. The boom, such as it was, is based on the highly encouraging outlook for a better railroad business next year, and the street has started in to discount this.

It looks as if the Lake Shore stockholders will get a Christmas present after all in the shape of an increased dividend. This morning 2½ per cent, was paid for the next dividend on 300 shares. The story has been that only 2 per cent, would be declared, but of course everything depends upon what the Vanderbilts think of the matter. Thus far they have not even hinted what they desire to be done. THE QUOTATIONS.

American Cable
Auch, Topeka & Santa Fe Lanada Southern Jentral Pacific
Cieve, Cot, Cin, & Ind.
Chesaprake & Ohlo
Jincago Gas Trinst
Chie, Burl & Quincy
Chicago & Northwest ie. Burl & Quincy.

Loggo & Northwest.

Loggo & Northwest.

Loggo & Northwest.

Loggo & H. & St. Paul

Loggo M. & St. Paul

Loggo & Passer Hillinois pdd

Loggo & Eastern Illinois pdd

Loggo & Eastern Illinois pdd

Loggo & Louis & Chicago

meron Cost.

A Hocking Valley

Lordo Cost.

Loggo & Loggo & Loggo

Loggo & Loggo & Loggo & Loggo & Loggo

Loggo & Loggo & Loggo & Loggo & Loggo

Loggo & Loggo & Loggo & Loggo & Loggo & Loggo

Loggo & L THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN TO PERSON ware & Hudson ver & Rio Grande West... or & Rio Grande pfd... Tenn., Va. & Ga. 2d pfd Worth & Donver City. e Shore

Fire A Western

Exic A Western pfd

iewile A Nashville

is New Alb. & Chicago

chattan Beach

ligan Central

L. S. & Western

L. S. & Western

L. S. & Western 1000 L. S. & West, pfd
ours Pacific
ours Pacific
ours, Kansac & Tex Jersey Contral.
York Contral
A New England.
Chicago & St. Louis
Chicago & St. Louis
Chicago & St. Louis
Lake Frie & Western
Lake Frie & Western
Lake Frie & Western
Sing & Western pfd.
ock & Western pfd.
ock & Western pfd.
herr Pacific Pacific pfd ... c Mail.
Line Certificates
delphia & Reading.
a. Decatur & Evansvil
ant Palace Car Co.
allver ptd.
& West Point Tar.
and & Oraclia THE PERSON NAMED IN 114 1444

PRICE ONE CENT.

CAPT. CHEEK'S STATEMENT.

PERHAPS TWENTY LIVES WERE LOST ON THE KATE ADAMS.

The Origin of the Fire Is Not Yet Known-Looking Out First for the Ladies and Children-Exciting Moments for the Panic-Stricken Passengers-The Bont Was a Sheet of Plame.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] MEMPHIS, Dec. 24, Capt. Cheek, who commanded the steamboat Kate Adams, has made the following statement:

"It was a few minutes before 8 o'clock yesterday, when the boat was about two miles below Commerce Landing, Miss., that fire broke out. I was in my stateroom, which is near the hurricane deck. I had gotten out near the hurricane deck. I had gotten out of bed, and was dressing to go down to breakfast when the alarm of fire was given. I rushed down to the cabin floor. The boat was about 300 yards from the bank.

"The passengers, a number of whom were ladies, had just sat down to breakfast, and had jumped from their seats and were running back and forth on the boat, crying and begging to be saved. I tried to quiet them, assuring them that the boat was making for land as fast as she could and all of them would be saved.

"I ran to the forward deck and was almost stifled by the dense smoke which arose from stifled by the dense smoke which arose from the burning material on the boiler deck. "The cotton was rapidly catching fire, and I saw that the situation was a perilous one. I could see, however, that the boat was being rushed to the bank with all possible speed, and hastened back along by the cabins to see that everybody was ready to land. All the cabin passengers save one or two were up and dressed.

'The time it took for the boat to run ashore was about two or three minutes, but they were the most momentous of my life. My first care was the ladies and children, of which there were quite a number. I com-manded the men to take their children in their arms, and just then the boat struck the

I cannot explain the origin of the fire. Teannot explain the origin of the fire. The first that was known of it was discovered about midships on the larboard side of the lower deck, a few feet from the fire doors.

As soon as the captain of the watch saw the fire he seized the hose and attempted to put it out, but the fire spread so rapidly that it drove him back. He fought the flames vigorously at the same time giving the alarm.

it drove him back. He fought the flames vigorously, at the same time giving the alarm.

"By the time the boat landed it was almost a sheet of fire, and so hot were the flames in front that a number of passengers were cut off from the stage plank and were forced to back to the rear. I stayed with them and handed each one a life peeserver.

"I had a yawl lowered, but as it struck the water a large number of the frightened passengers leaped from the guard into it and it was capsazed. I suppose most of the passengers who jumped into the yawl were saved, but I cannot say definitely.

"George Corbett, the third clerk, in lowering the yawl from the lower deck in order to save some negro wopner and children went overboard and was drowned.

"No time was lost in lowering the stage plank and we rushed the ladies and children off first. I am quite sure that all the cabin.

plank and we rushed the ladies and children off first. I am quite sure that all the cabin passengers got to land safely except Mrs. Harris, who had her ankle sprained in jumping from a bale of cotton."

"There were about fifty deck passengers and nearly all of them were negroes. I think that between twelve and twenty of them were drowned by jumping overboard."

PROSTRATE IN A POOL OF BLOOD.

Old Charles Kettrel Picked Up Badly Hurt in James Street.

Officer Peter S. Farney, of the Oak street station, found an old gray-bearded man lying face upward at the corner of James street and Park Row at 2 o'clock this morning. The man's head rested in a pool of blood and the policeman discovered two ugiv wounds on his head. The police tried to learn how he came by his injuries, but he was too drunk to say any-thing. He was dressed in a dark suit of clothes and wore a black overcoat. He was taken to the Chambers Street Hospital. When aroused from his drunken supor, be gave his name as Charles Kettrel and said he had no home. His wounds are not danger-

Cora Tauner in "Fascination."

One little word will sum up the cause of the notable success attained by Cora Tanner, who produces "Fascination," her latest success, at Col. Sinn's Park Theatre, Brooklyn, this evening. That word is "ability." Step by step Miss Tauner has worked her way, till now she stands a bright particular star in her profession. "Fascination" is from the pen of Robert Buchanau, and the management is honest in Buchanan, and the management is honest in saying that, while the play is interesting, it contains some elements of improbability, which, however, add to rather than detract from its attractiveness. Miss Tanner plays a dual role in "Fascination." Lady Madge Stanton, a leader in society, and Charles Marlowe, a man about town. To the latter rather improbable character Miss Tanner lends much naturalness. Few actresses possess greater personal charms than Cora Tanner, yet her beauty has never been used to advertise her plays. Few wear reher costunes where the parts require them, still no flaring announcement is ever made of her Paris gowns. Sie asks no more than that she shall be judged by her merits, and by them it can be truthfully said she has made her success.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE EVENING WORLD.]
NAPLES, Dec. 24.—The reception of Mr. Gladstone upon his arrival Saturday night was very enthusiastic. The students presented him with an address, and there were shouts of "Long live Gladstone, and Ireland and England," Mr. Gladstone stood bareheaded in the moonlight and thanked his admirers.

> Fair and Warmer Weather. WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.

For Eastern New York-Fair: warmer;

The Weather To-Day. Indicated by Blakely's tele-thermometer

1888. 1887.

PRICE ONE CENT.

Tons of Turkey and Cranberry Sauce

pear them away, while another host will appear armed with boards, hammers and nails. Brigade No. 2 will erect four immense ables, each 65 feet long, for the main diningroom, and four more, 26 feet each in length for the cafe or annex dining-room. This done Brigade No. 1 will again appear on the scene laden with snow-white linen cloths, glittering piles of cruckery and silverware and proceed to lay them out in the most approved style.

Again this brigade will disappear and again reappear, this time with the most toothsome dinties that can be prepared for the celebration of Christmas Day.

The cause of all this hurry and bustle is The Evening Wolld's annual dinner to its newsboys and it will be a dandy. It will just cast all other and former dinners into the gloomiest shade, a fact of which the boys are assured by Mine Host Everett.

Here is the dinner ticket:

CHRISTMAS DINNER NEWSBOYS OF NEW YORK,

THE EVENING WORLD. On Tuesday, December 25th, 1888. AT EVERETT'S HOTEL.

When the boys cast their eyes on the list of good things that will be laid out before them to-morrow how their eyes will glisten with delight and their mouths water with anticipation! course the dinner wouldn't be a Christmas one without it.

One o'clock to-morrow and at Everett's is the watchword and let every one look sharp, for time and dinner will wait for no boy.

NEWSBOYS WILL MEET AT WORLD OFFICE AT 12 O'CLOCK SHARP.

BAPTIST PASTORS SHAKEN UP. Lewis the Light Invades Their Meeting and | That's What We'll Have if the Weather Raises Ructions. " Lewis the Light," the religious crank, in-sekly meeting in Warren street to-day and destroyed the customary quiet and calm of that gathering. "I want to tell you," he began, "that the world, the flesh and the devil as the Trinity of to-day. That's your trinity. "You worship that trinity without having anything for God, and that's what I come to represent to you to-day," he shouted. 'The brother is out of order," said Moderator Mason, rapping with his gavel.

"The brother has come," said Lews the Light, sarcastically, "as your judge. I come and introduce myself."
Several ministers called to the man to sit down, but he leaned back on a chair and seemed content to wait. He broke out the next moment. member suggested that if the man would not subside he must be made to.

[One of the ministers laid his hand kindly One of the ministers laid his hand kindly on the crank's arm, whereupon the latter pulled away indignantly and shouted: "When you lay hands on me I go. I can't bear your touch. I go. I go." He moved towards the door and on leaving said: "Stay in nell and be damned, That is exactly where you are located."

After his departure, Moderator Mason stated that the man was deranged. He was not wicked, but weak; therefore, he should be treated with patience.

PARLIAMENT PROROGUED. The Queen Regrets that the Fishery Treat; Was Rejected.

rogued to-day. The Queen's speech was read by commision.

In it regret is expressed that the Fisheries Convention failed to receive the approval of the Senate of the United States.

The Queen trusts that temporary arrangements will present in the content of the Conten

[BY CARLE TO THE PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION.]

London, Dec. 24. Parliament was pro ments will prevent immediate inconvenience The Plover's Stormy Voyage. The brig Plover from Natal arrived to-day after a very stormy voyage. On November 20, the vessel was struck by a cyclone which lasted for seventeen hours. The bowsprit, fore and main topmast and everything movable on the decks were carried away. On November 22, while the storm was still raging, one of the sailors, Charles H. Stevens, axed 22, a native of Cardin, Wales, was washed overboard and lost. Murderer Schlemmer's Sentonce. Joseph Schlemmer, the man who shot his wife to death on the street in Jersey City. August, 1887, in a fit of jealonsy, was sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment to-day by Judge Knapp in the Hudson County Court, Jersey City. ---Ills, Wills and Pills.

An odd mixture of words, but the sufferer from constipation, indigestion, impure blood, biliousness and other such ills can be cured if he wills without taking the horrid, old-fashioned pitts. These are superseded in our day by those wonder-working, yet tiny, little globules known as Dr. Plenck's Pleasast Pellers. No griping, no drastic purging; do not cause costiveness afterwards, as the old-style pills do. One little granule a dose.

truded upon the Baptist pastors at their to an Evening World reporter this morning. "There was a chance of our having snow but the high barometer all along the coast precindes any hope in that direction.

"There is at present a heavy rainstorm central over the lake region, and it is moving in an easterly direction. It is a warm rain, and will reach this vicinity some time tonight." This will cause great disappointment to the children and many of the older ones as well.

It is an old saying that "a green Christmas makes a fat churchyard," and many super-stitious people have been hoping that there would be some snow on the ground, even if here was only enough to cover it.

However, the lack of "beautiful snow" will in no way affect the annual tour of Santa Claus, for if the old gentleman can't take a sleigh-ride behind his reindeer, why he'll hire a rowboat, a four-wheeled buggy and a span of trotters, so the little folks need no Sergt. Dunn wanted to take his best girl sleighing, and tried to coax the snowstorm down from the northwest, but the hardy peodown from the northwest, but the hardy people up in that region held on to it, and the disappointed weather man will eat his Christmas dinner in his own home.

In New York the thermometer stood at 30 degrees this morning and it was getting warmer. In Chicago 42 degrees were registered and at Lacrosse, Wis., in which vicinity the storm now loiters, the thermometer stood at 48 degrees.

The warmest point is at Corpus Christi, Tex., at 66; the coldest St. Vincent, Minn., at 2 degrees below.

at 2 degrees below The weather this morning was cool and bracing, and many people enjoyed the walk down Broadway to their places of business.

STANLEY TURNS TOWARDS HOME, His Arrival on the Congo Confirmed-Emin Bey's Fate in Doubt,

[BY CABLE TO THE PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION.] LONDON, Dec. 24.-The Belgian Government has received later despatches from St. Thomas on the west coast and Zanzibar on the east giving additional news of Stanley.

His arrival on the Congo is confirmed, but not that of Emin Bey, who is not mentioned in the latest despatches.

Stanley himself was expected to arrive at

Knocked Down and Robbed by Footpads. (SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)
FARMINGTON, Me., Dec. 24, -N. S. Houghton,

Stanley Falls within a fortnight.

who keeps a hardware store in Wilton, locked up Saturday night about 10 o'clock and started home. Soon after he was found insensible in a pool of his blood in the road near his house. The keys to his store and to his safe and other articles are missing. A suspicious character was noticed about town in the afternoon and officers are now on his track. Five Persons Poisoned by Cream Puffs. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 24,-Mrs. R. Soven-

her, her three children and her father, Nels

Marcussen, are lying at the point of death in the west side of the city from eating poisoned cream puffs yesterday. The physicians in at-tendance are of the opinion that the puffs were poisoned by being cooked in a tin dish in which copperss had gathered.

CONFESSES HER CRIME.

She Would Weep With the Mourners, but Was Always the Last to Leave the House-Once She Was Taken Sick And Went Upstairs to Rest-Stealing Every-

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD,] PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 24.-A rosy-cheeked, roly-poly girl, as sad-eyed as any of the mourners, has been noticed at a number of Philadelphia funerals of late. She was stout of build and had brown eyes and hair and looked to be about eighteen. Her appear-

There was a funeral at the house of Henry neral at Mr. Stephen's. As in that instance, she remained until the futeral cortege was about starting and then she must have concealed herself in another room. No one saw her leave the house, and she must have escaped by the back way. With her went a dressing-case, a lady's plaid suit and some other articles. This case was also reported to the volice and a very sharp lookout has been kept for the young woman since that time.

out of the house, when they ar-her. She was about as cool a her as Officer Miller has seen in a long Coroner Messemer is making an investigation.

The young woman had a bitter dispute with her busband last night about money matters, and this is supposed to have led her to take her life.

Guttenburg Christmas Entries.

Race-Seven-eighths of a mile: selling allow for beaten borses; $290.—Bedford, 120, Travel 9; Berlin, 120; Warren Lewis, 120; Velvei lavana, 118; Tentioc, 118; Legardere, 115 Brown, 115; Ruse, 115; Pat Dennis, 115 a, 115; Commotion, 115; Chinchila, 115 mond, 115; Auditor, 113; Pirate, 110; No. 10016.

Edith Schoonmaker, who was shot three times by her husband, was still afive in the Long Is and College Hospital, corner of Henry and Amity streets, Brooklyn, this WORLD reporter who called there:

"The lady is and has been partially conneat, but of poor material. to speak a word." ' Will she recover ?" "We cannot say positively. We have not prisoner as Officer Miller has seen in a long time and at first protested her innocence. When confronted with the indisputable proof she confessed to having robbed the three houses aiready mentioned and said she had no contederate. She told the officer that she was fifteen years old, although she looks to be fully eighteen, and asserted that she had worked in a factory at Fifth and Cherry streets until recently, when she was dis-charged.

Identified as One of the Burglars Morris Kearney, of 338 East Seventieth street,

[RPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] NORTH HUDSON DRIVING PARE, N. J., Dec. 24. -Here is the Christmas programme and entrie

krisina, 115; Commotion, 115; Chinchina, 110; Bien Almond, 115; Auditor, 113; Printe, 110; Nov Then, 100; 100.

Second face—Three-quarters of a mile for two-year-olds, $200.—Frank Wheeler, 115; Nam. N. 115; Creaksum, 115; Thuron, 112; Dr. Jekyli, 112; Loberer, 100; My Nannie O colt, 100; Meiweod, 9; Ashiobette, c. 10; Nsin, 50; Ngeedwast, 50; Louis F. Gorner's Polenta filly, 10; Ib.

Third Roce—Pures $200; aeven-eighths of a mile; selling allowances. Brier, 129; Harwood, 121; Hallstone, 124; Giendon, 123; Barton, 123; Nmrod, 123; Vanlier, 123; Barton, 123; Nmrod, 123; Vanlier, 123; Barton, 123; Komance, 124; Frank Mulline, 120; Battedore, 123; King B., 120; Warder, 120; Fagin, 120; Maximah, 115; Tatian, 115; Artiess, 105; Nianley, 101; R., Fourth Race—Midwinter Handicap, one mile $500.—Traeborn, 1214; Jurgler, 118; Esqinnan, 115; Prodigsi, 113; Melodrama, 110; Froile, 106; Charley Arnold, 109; Armstrong, 108; Tyrone, 105; Count Luna, 102; James A. H., 100; Not Guilty, 14; Ecoine, 90; Nation, NS Ib.

With Race—Mile and one-selpth; selling allowances, $250.—Blizzard, 125; Vigilance, 125; Maximos, 116; Maximos, 116; Delano, 116; Maximos, 116; Maximos, 116; Lizzie M., 107; Alveda, 107; Tenaconos, 104; L., Lizzie M., 115; Maximos, 116; Maximos, 115; Change, 115; Toy-Sawyer, 115; Wayward, 115; Guess, 115; Spinnate, 110; Maxter Walter, 108; Reystone, 108; Pumas, 108; b.

Races will commence at 1 o'clock P. M. sharp Christians Davony of the control of the control of the Commence of the Colock P. M. sharp Christians Davony of the control of the Colock P. M. sharp Christians Davony.

Ann O'Delia Has Got Hold of Old

While Sleeping Arrangements He Appears in the Supreme

Ann Offers to Make a Spirit Picture in Court.

There was enacted in the Supreme Court
Chambers a scene that will long be remembered by those who saw it. It was sad and solemn and at the same time ludicrous.

It was the case of Ann O'Del a Diss Debar, and Julia Diss Debar. Court convened at 10,30 o'clock, and shortly before that hour the madama swept in, head held high in the air and a mocking smile upon her thick lips.

She was dressed precisely as on the memorable day of her release from jail. She plunged solidly into a sent at the left extremity of the circular desk reserved for lawyers.

the eldest.

Saturday evening, while the latter and his mother were out, William took a revolver out of his pocket. James asked to see it. William refused to let him, James then attempted to wrost it from his brother's hands.

In the scuffle that ensued the weapon was discharged, and James fell on the floor with a big bullet in his abdomen. When the mother returned she found him there, and william nearly crazy with grief on the bed. But the greatest sensation of all was caused resuding whom Ann O'Delia boarded for six months at the expense of the city.

He, however, is as firmly set in his belief that the madame can call down the immortal shades of Peter, Paul and all the prophets.

Lawyer Townsend, Elbridge T. Gerry and Lawyer Price brought up in the rear.

Their presence soon became known in the big court-house, and from all quarrers they flecked and quickly filled the little court room.

The spectators immediately commenced to str. and necks were craned painfully as if expecting to see the madame cause the paint-ing to float down from the ceiling.

It didn't float and the Judge didn't seem to

"I suppose that the public sense in this regard was because they did not believe that a morial can receive spiritual communications."

"The truth is the public is so wrapped in prove, to my mind, any deception on the part of the petitioner and Gen. Diss Debar. They lived together for many years, and, as case regarding the commitment of the children.

"The children," he continued, "are in a private institution and being educated thoroughly. Were it known that they were the children of this woman they would not be permitted to remain.

"This woman is bad and has lived in open adultery for a number of years. The lives of these children have been tainted by this.

"Now, why should they be brought again in coutact with a criminal who shows no intention of reforming and openly resumes her illest relations with Gen, Diss Debar?"

While the lawyer was speaking the priestess

Young & Smylie's Licerice.